About Our School

School History

In 2003 we originally opened as The Oriental Healing Arts School of Massage Therapy. Our basic foundation is in the Taoist Healing Arts which includes Traditional (and Classic) Chinese Medicine. The school was formed as a way to integrate massage therapy as one of the modalities used in Chinese Medicine, directly into the other Taoist Healing Arts which include: Acupuncture, Herbal Therapy, Medical QiGong Therapy, Tai Chi and QiGong, and Feng Shui. While massage therapy was and is currently taught at several other local schools, no other school has the foundation in Taoist Healing Arts as both a philosophy and way of life. In 2012 we changed our name to better reflect the scope of education we provide, and we are now Alaska Institute of Oriental Medicine, Acupuncture & Massage Therapy (AKInstitute).

Our Healing Mission

Our mission is to bring individuals and their lives to wholeness by educating them about the centuries old spiritual path to healing of Tai Chi, QiGong, Qi/Energy Healing, Massage Therapy, Chinese Herbs, and Acupuncture. In striving for health and wholeness we seek an open partnership with the health care community while maintaining our integrity by offering and practicing Tai Chi, QiGong, Meditation, Oriental Healing Herbs, Massage Therapy and Qi/Energy Healing.

Our “Healer” Philosophy

“Healer” means the ability to guide another person to wholeness. Our students are given the opportunity to go through many levels of self-cultivation and self-healing, thereby gaining the experience needed to work with others. We provide an atmosphere of grounding, inner-strength, and growth that is surrounded in the type of compassion required to connect with the human spirit. Through the practice and study of the Taoist Arts, we provide a significantly different level of knowledge, understanding, and approach to health and wholeness.

Want to know what it's like to be a student at our school? Orientation Opportunities:

Definitions

Throughout this catalog, the terms listed below are defined to mean the following:

The terms certified, Certificate of Achievement, and Certificate of Completion refer to the type of educational credential given to signify the satisfactory completion of the requirements for education at our institution. A Certificate of Achievement is awarded for courses that measure attendance and grades based on published standards. A Certificate of Completion is awarded for courses that only require attendance and do not use a grading system.

In some, but not all cases, certification may be accepted as a requirement to vocational licensing, or as a supplement towards one's occupation, which would be determined by the body governing the license or occupation. For example, The American Massage Therapy Association (AMTA) requires its members to have supplemental and on-going education in the form of a specific number of hours and type of study. AMTA determines whether or not they will accept a certificate of study.

Alaska Institute of Oriental Medicine, Acupuncture & Massage Therapy (AKInstitute) has been authorized by the Alaska Commission on Postsecondary Education as a provider of Postsecondary Education; therefore the State of Alaska will accept our Certification towards vocational licensing as a Massage Therapist. Other states that require approved education are likely to accept our Certification towards vocational licensing as a Massage Therapist.

Approved Education is defined as an educational program that is authorized under post-secondary education status approved by any state, or is accepted towards certification from The National Certification Examination for Therapeutic Massage and Bodywork (NCBTMB). For example, the Alaska Commission on Postsecondary Education is the authorized agency that approves education for vocational training within the state of Alaska.

It is our top priority to ensure our graduates are of excellent quality, attractive to a variety of employers, and have the strong reputation of our school behind them.

Educational Philosophy

The philosophy of the Massage Therapy Program at Alaska Institute is to stay true to the traditional art of training healers by focusing on the experiential self-cultivation methods of meditation, QiGong, Tai Chi, and Yoga as a foundation for the medicine being learned, and combining this with a high quality, thorough, and formal education of the subject matter.

We strongly believe that the cultivated ability to touch others in a safe and caring manner builds one of the most basic and important aspects any healer can attain. This embodied knowledge will enhance all further education in medical and healing modalities that are subsequently studied and practiced.

Our program allows Massage Therapy to meet Oriental medicine, thus giving a specific direction for understanding pain and being able to relieve it in a highly effective way. Many non-needle techniques used in Oriental medicine are a valuable asset to a massage therapist trained to use them appropriately. Understanding and utilizing these techniques creates a skilled bodyworker.

Students will experience a dramatic change in their own health issues and attitudes as they receive regular massage, and then have the opportunity to be treated for specific issues using both massage therapy and non-needle aspects of Oriental medicine. This builds both confidence and belief in bodywork as a natural component to healing.

As the field of complimentary alternative medicine continues to grow, we expect our graduates to be highly sought after and employable in a wide variety of settings.

Massage Therapy Vocational Program

Welcome Letter From Our Massage Therapy Program Director

Dear Massage Therapy Applicant,

Thank you for choosing to look at our wonderful school. We have many successful graduates currently relieving pain and touching the lives of many other people with their caring hands.

I think one of the greatest things we can do is to live life inspired with passion for something we love! That's really what our school is all about—people who are passionate about health, healing, and personal growth going on a profound life-changing journey together.

Our program builds a foundation based on caring and connecting with others, teaching you the power of being able to touch someone in a way that makes their pain go away, their stress decrease, and leaves them feeling so much better after seeing you.

In addition to touch, our program is strongly based in Oriental medicine—which is the main reason most students choose our school. Combining the knowledge and wisdom of this honored health practice, you will have skills to serve yourself, benefit your family, and give you quite an effective edge in your massage therapy career.

One thing I can truly say is that I feel I can go anywhere in the entire world and bring something of extreme value to those around me, just through sharing what I've learned to do with my hands. Providing meaningful service to others is a compassionate and deeply satisfying lifestyle.

As long as you're over 18, age doesn't matter. It's never too early or late to start doing this kind of study and work if you have an inner healer inside of you. We would absolutely love to help that part of you come out!

I wish you unimaginable peace,

Cynthia McMullen

139 hours theory/lecture, 18 hours lab. Each week students must watch assigned online videos as homework (average 2.5 hours/week) to be completed prior to class. In-class time is dedicated to practical integration of the material, including demonstration, supervised application, palpation practice, clinical correlations, and interactive activities to reinforce relevant concepts.

This course teaches Anatomy, Kinesiology, and Physiology specifically as they apply to the field of Massage Therapy. Students will learn standard medical terminology, location and palpation of all major muscles and bones in the human body, and principles of movement and muscle actions.

There is a waiver available for any student who does not wish to participate, and an alternative assignment will be given.

The course teaches the 11 major systems of the human body, such as the muscular system and the nervous system. Emphasis is placed on the effects of Massage Therapy on each system and the physiological reasoning as to why massage techniques are used or avoided in various common situations.

MT7ELB Ethics & Business (24 Hours)

24 hours theory/lecture, trauma informed. Students will discuss topics relating to the specific ethical nature of massage therapy including professional boundaries, therapeutic relationships, implied consent, appropriate and inappropriate client and therapist behavior, how to identify and what to do when a client experiences an emotional release, HIPPA laws and issues of confidentiality, local and state laws. This course includes discussion that is relevant to people who have experienced abuse or emotional trauma in the past, and the special considerations this population may have in expressing boundaries. The course will cover appropriate and modest draping techniques, and general client conditions requiring cautions and modifications to be aware of. Hands-on participation in both giving and receiving massage is required, as is full participation in the class, student clinic, and massage related events. Students receive additional extensive hands-on practice of Swedish massage during student clinic participation and in the Pathology East & West class.

PRE-REQUISITE: Completion of or current enrollment in SWEDISH MASSAGE

44 hours theory/lecture, 68 hours lab. Each week students must watch assigned online videos as homework (average 2.5 hours/week) to be completed prior to class. In-class time is dedicated to practical integration of the material, including demonstration, supervised application, palpation practice, clinical correlations, and interactive activities to reinforce relevant concepts. This course covers common diseases, symptoms, and other issues that require special consideration by the massage therapist. It is of extreme importance that the therapist knows not only how to assist in the healing process, but also to prevent harm to the client. Topics include specific common upper and lower body conditions, spinal issues, massage during cancer treatment, pregnancy, elderly clients and more.

Students will learn how to combine massage techniques and thought process from both an Eastern and Western perspective. Eastern techniques covered include acupressure therapy, cupping, gua sha, and moxibustion.

Students mock-practice modified techniques on each other, and upon approval in student clinic. Emphasis is placed on research methods for the specifics of each condition and understanding the thought process behind treatment modification based on cautions and contraindications.

MT7TCB Tai Chi Body Mechanics (30 Hours)

30 hours lab. This course provides basic instruction in Tai Chi mind-body exercise. The stances, movements, and flow used in Tai Chi keep the body strong and in excellent proper alignment for doing massage therapy. Additionally, the state of calm peacefulness that Tai Chi is known for can be embodied by the massage therapist for their own personal benefit, and in the presence they hold in the treatment room.

MT7TYM Thai Massage (30 Hours)

30 hours lab. This course provides instruction in how to use Thai Massage for common pain issues. Thai Massage is becoming increasingly popular in the US, and is considered a deep pressure technique. This style is done with the client fully clothed and either laying down or seated on the floor. The massage therapist uses rhythmic pressure with the hands and feet, and therapeutically stretches the client's body in specialized ways to achieve a deep state of openness and relaxation.

MT7TMA Tuina Medical Acupressure (30 Hours)

30 hours lab. This course provides instruction in how to use Tuina Medical Acupressure for common pain issues. Tuina is the traditional method of massage associated with acupuncture and is very effective in sports massage and injury rehab. It utilizes specialized hand techniques that stimulate movement of blood and Qi within energy meridian pathways and acupressure points in order to provide pain relief, healing and regeneration of tissue, and return comfortable range of motion.

MT7MQG Medical QiGong Energy Healing (30 Hours)

30 hours lab. This course provides instruction in how to incorporate Energy Healing into a massage therapy session as part of therapeutic touch in cases where clients prefer or require extremely light touch – no touch, as in a request for energy healing, or during side effects of cancer treatment and end-of-life care. This class introduces Qi Emission techniques, Tuning Forks, Taoist Stone Medicine, and Voice Toning.

MT7SMC Student Massage Clinic (100 Hours)

Must be age 18 or older to participate in student clinic.*

100 hours lab. Once a student is approved as ready by the instructor, the Student Clinic is where students get real life practice working with the general public in order to practice the skills they are learning in class. Our school places a very high emphasis on professionalism within the Massage Therapy career field. The supervised student clinic and events that students participate in are designed to prepare students to excel within a variety of professional health settings.

Students learn to greet customers, observe the appointment scheduling and reminder call process, maintain required client paperwork, assist with office duties, and get invaluable hands-on practice of their skills with direct feedback from the clinic supervisors.

As this mimics real-life clinical work , the following guidelines apply:

- Students may sign up according to their own schedule. Shifts are up to 4 hours each. A walk-in schedule is available, and all other appointments are made at least 24 hours in advance through The Oriental Healing Arts Center and assigned to students on a rotating basis. A clinic supervisor is present to assist and interact with the clients.
- Students must follow our published dress code and behave in an appropriate ethical and professional manner. A student that is dressed inappropriately or displays inappropriate behavior including rudeness, negative attitude, or other toxic emotional displays that are not conducive to our healing atmosphere will be sent home and not be allowed to participate in the student clinic until they are able to maintain themselves in an appropriate and professional manner.

- Students may not smell like cigarette smoke, perfume, or chew gum during clinic.
- A student scheduled for clinic hours that is unable to show up for any reason must try to find a replacement for their schedule and notify the clinic supervisor as soon as they know they will not show up.

Massage Related Event Participation

Our school provides a variety of massage related events, such as vendor booths offering massage, field trips to business locations to provide chair massage, open house and other special events at our location, and more.

Student participation in massage related events is required as this is one of the best hands-on situations available. Students learn the various aspects required for running the event, get to observe professional interactions, and gain business experience in marketing yourself for success. There may be times when it is necessary to change a class time in order to accommodate an event. In this case, we will do everything possible to provide advance notification for scheduling purposes. All hours are documented and apply towards student clinic hours.

Documentation of Student Event and Clinic Hours

Each student will be required to keep a log of student event and clinic hours in which they participate. This log is maintained on file at the school. The student should note:

- Date and time in/time out
- Event Name or Student Clinic
- Number of hours they participated
- Supervisor sign off to verify the hours (cover sheet provided in student clinic)

A copy of the student's record is to be turned in to the School Education Administrator at the completion of all clinic hours.

Online Video Homework: Each week throughout the 8-month program students must watch assigned online video homework (average 2.5 hours/week) to be completed prior to class. Some weeks will be slightly less than 2.5 hours, and some weeks will be slightly more.

Other Homework: There are occasional short reading assignments, and students are encouraged to practice hands-on techniques outside of class.

The following chart outlines the courses and gives an idea of the type of homework and time estimate involved.

HOMEWORK ESTIMATES: 750 Hour Massage Therapy Program

I also certify that I am free of any communicable and contagious diseases and in general good health. If I have any health concerns I will address them to the instructor or school administrator.

Touch

Appropriate Touch is defined as touch required for the purposes of therapeutic massage in a way that is safe, modest, caring, and done in good faith with implied consent on behalf of the person being touched.

Inappropriate Touch is defined as any touch that is of a sexual, aggressive, or intimidating nature, causes emotional or physical discomfort outside of an appropriate massage therapy technique, or is done outside the boundaries of implied consent on behalf of the person being touched.

____ I understand that learning Massage involves hands-on touch between myself and others, including the instructors. I will inform the instructor of any personal limitations and/or boundaries and I understand that every effort will be made to accommodate me. At any time that I feel uncomfortable or feel that I have been compromised in any way, I have the right to exit the experience and discuss the matter with the class instructor or program director.

____ I understand that inappropriate touch is not tolerated and may result in immediate dismissal from the Massage Therapy Program.

Acceptable and Professional Behavior

- Mature Manner is behavior appropriate to adults in a professional setting and adult learning environment.
- Immature Manner includes being rude, displaying a negative attitude, or other toxic emotional displays that are not conducive to our healing atmosphere.
- Appropriate Dress includes uniform tops, and clothing that is clean and would be considered appropriate in a business setting. Jeans are acceptable in class, but are not appropriate for student clinic.

As such, I understand that I am expected to act in a mature and professional manner while in class, and while on the premises of The Oriental Healing Arts Center and Massage Now!.

Cell Phones & Texting

AK Institute considers the use of cell phones or texting during class to be highly inappropriate and disruptive. Unless there is an emergency situation to which a student has made the instructor aware, cell phones are to be turned off or on silent and not used while in class. Students needing to use their phone must leave class to do so.

Pictures & Video

Students may not take pictures, video, or similar recording during class without explicit permission from those involved.

Consequences of Inappropriate Behavior

____ I understand that if I do not follow these guidelines the following consequences apply:

1. A verbal warning of inappropriate dress or behavior. One verbal warning is given.
2. A written warning of inappropriate dress or behavior and being sent home. In this case the student is not allowed to participate in class or clinic until they are able to present and maintain themselves in a professional and acceptable manner. Being sent home is considered an absence. One written warning is given.

Consequences of Being Unprepared for Hands-On Classes

- Students are expected to dress and present themselves in a clean and professional manner.
- Uniform tops must be worn during all of the hands-on massage classes, student massage clinic, chair massage events, and at any other events that represent the school.
- Students must be showered and clean during all hands-on classes, events, and during clinic hours.

Classroom and Clinical Lab Facility

All courses are held in large open classroom space at our professional wellness clinics – the Oriental Healing Arts Center and Massage Now!. These wellness centers provide a beautiful setting for students to be surrounded in a professional business environment, immersed in the healing arts that they are studying.

Our 2 locations listed are directly across the parking lot from each other in the same strip mall complex. As our school has grown, utilizing our existing space from both locations has been both a convenient and efficient use of our space in order to give the students the most comfortable environment. This is not an extension, it is only a separate classroom used for the Oriental medicine portion of the program. The same instructors teach the same program from this classroom due to space limitations and the program requires each student to have ample room.

Oriental Healing Arts Center 2636 Spenard Rd., Anchorage, AK 99503 907-279-0135
Hands-on classes are held in the 900 sq. foot main hall of The Oriental Healing Arts Center. The main hall is large and open, and comfortably accommodates academic tables and chairs, and also massage tables and other equipment used during the program. At certain times the main hall may be sectioned off and shared with other classes. There is a computer station with a projector and large screen for lecture presentations and also Zoom access.

Massage Now! 2606 Spenard Rd., Anchorage, AK 99503 907-279-7669
The Oriental Medicine portion of the program is taught in a 775 sq. foot classroom space at Massage Now. This open space comfortably accommodates academic tables and chairs, and also massage equipment, and is suitable for learning moxa, gua sha, cupping, and other non-needle techniques. There is a computer station with a projector and large screen for lecture presentations and also Zoom access.

Massage Now has 7 individual treatment/therapy rooms available for students to schedule use of during their required Clinical Lab Hours. These rooms are also used by professional health care providers and will be more than adequate for students to use.

Minimum and Maximum Number Of Students Per Class

For all classes, the minimum number of students is 4 and the maximum number of students is 25. We currently provide 1 instructor and 1 to 2 teaching assistants for each class within the program. Within these standards, our main concern is to provide a comfortable and safe learning environment along with quality education.

Grading System

Student grades are based on an average of exam scores, completed homework assignments, and observation of hands-on skills. Exams are based on materials taught in class, including a written mid-term and final exam that will be comprehensive for the whole mid/full term. In addition, hands-on classes also include a mid and final practical exam that is graded pass/fail.

From	To	Letter Grade	Pass/Need Help
90	100	A	pass
80	89	B	pass
75	79	C	pass
70	74	C	need help
60	69	D	need help
0	59	F	need help

Students are provided with a monthly Progress Report from each instructor which tracks their academic status and attendance in each class.

It is our philosophy to do everything possible to assist a student in succeeding if this is their intention and desire. At any time a student is showing unsatisfactory progress in class, the student is required to schedule time with an instructor and the Director of Student Services for counseling. If a student is showing a final grade of less than 74% they are placed on academic probation and given a 30-day time period to show satisfactory improvement.

Any student that is dismissed from the program only due to poor academic standards is eligible to re-take the program or course at full cost the next time it is offered.

Academic Probation

Students are provided with a monthly Progress Report from each instructor which tracks their status and attendance in each class. As such, reaching probation status will not come as a surprise.

Students are placed on Academic Probation when academic performance is not satisfactory. This means that in one or more classes an aspect of participation, hands-on skills, homework and assignment completion, or make-up work completed in a timely manner is causing the final grade to be less than 74% and the student is at risk of not passing the course or program. Academic probation serves as a warning and allows a 30-day time period for improvement.

Students on academic probation are counseled by the individual instructor as to the specific requirements needed to improve their grade and pass the course. The student is also required to meet with the Director of Student Services for counseling. Upon request we offer private tutoring services for a fee of $25 per hour. At the end of 30 days, satisfactory improvement that brings the student above a 74% grade will release them from probation. Students that do not achieve satisfactory improvement are dismissed from the program due to poor academic performance.

Being Dismissed From The Program Due To Academic Performance:

The student is responsible for full payment of tuition up to their last date of physical attendance and the number of hours offered in the program up to that time. Students are eligible to re-apply to AK Institute at a later date.

Attendance Policy

Attendance Policy and Make-Up Hours

Attendance, commitment, and dedication are essential. Students must sign-in to each class, and the school maintains the sign-in sheets as a record of attendance. All classes begin promptly; students are expected to arrive on time. Any student arriving later than 20 minutes after the start of class will be recorded as missing 1 full hour. Missed hours are recorded as an accumulated total. Students are responsible for finding out what they missed from each class.

- Student should notify instructor directly or leave a message at The Oriental Healing Arts Center, 279-0135, as soon as they know they will be absent.

Minimum of 80% in-class attendance and progress in online video homework when applicable, for each individual course is required for satisfactory progress, and all time missed must be made up according to the outline below. Students that achieve 90% or better attendance are eligible to be considered for an Honors Award to show on their graduation certificate and official transcript.

Students absent or behind in online video homework, for any reason, more than 20% of a course are given a written notification by the instructor that they have exceeded allowable absences for satisfactory attendance, with an expectation to improve attendance immediately. The student is placed on Probation for Poor Attendance. Probation remains in effect until the ratio of absence is at or above 80% of the class time offered.

Dismissal From Program for dropping below 74% attendance in 3 or more classes or re-taking a course to continue in program:

Students absent and behind on online video homework, for any reason, more than 26% of a course are given a written notification by the instructor and should take the time to consider their commitment, desire, and ability to pursue success in this program and vocation.

Once below 74% attendance in 3 or more classes a student is dismissed from the program due to poor attendance. We do offer the option to re-take a course during a different term at 50% off tuition.

If a student has dropped below 74% attendance in less than 3 classes, the student must demonstrate satisfactory competency of all material missed to the instructor via hands-on demonstration, oral or written explanation, and/or by passing a quiz or exam on the material. Any quiz or exam given for these purposes does not take the place of passing a required mid-term or final exam for that course.

Tutoring is available the rate of $25/hour to be paid at the beginning of each tutoring session. The instructor will certify that such tutoring is essential to correct a deficiency of the individual in the course. All courses in the 750 hour program are essential to be passed in order to complete the graduation requirements. The tutoring fees will not exceed $100/month and a maximum time length of 12 months or $1,200 in total.

Tutoring must be completed and any course exams taken and passed no later than 5 months after the expected graduation date of the program enrolled in. Students that do not meet this requirement will receive a final grade of incomplete and must re-take the course at their own expense.

Being Dismissed From The Program Due To Poor Attendance:

The student is responsible for full payment of tuition up to their last date of physical attendance and the number of hours offered in the program up to that time.

MAKE-UP WORK, required for all hours missed:

- For non hands-on classes, student will be assigned a make-up assignment with a reasonable due date, which will include but may not be limited to outlining a video on a related topic, outlining a chapter on a related topic, or a written essay on a related topic. Make-up work is directly applied towards both missed hours in attendance and academic progress.
- For the online video homework portions of BioScience and Pathology, students must show that they have completed the assigned videos and taken and passed the relevant chapter quiz.
- For hands-on classes, missed hours are added to student clinic hours. In the case that a student is on attendance probation, private tutoring to address the information missed is available at $25/hour paid at the time of service. Make-up hours are directly applied towards both missed hours in attendance and academic progress.
- Students that attend an approved health related workshop (outside of normal class time) where CEU's are earned may apply up to 10 course hours of outside education towards make-up hours. Acceptable health related workshops include topics that would be of professional benefit to a massage therapist. A copy of the CEU certificate is required to be turned in to the Student Services Representative.

Program Outline With Expectations For Each Class

A copy of this policy is attached to the attendance sign-in record kept for each class.

The signed copy is kept in the student file.

Chart shows the number of hours missed for each category.

I understand that being in good standing for attendance requires a minimum of 80% attendance. Falling under 80% places me on Probation for which immediate improvement is expected. I understand that if I fall under 74% attendance I will not pass the course and may re-take the course at 50% off tuition. I understand that if I fall under 74% attendance in more than 2 classes I will be dismissed from the program for poor attendance.

Leave of Absence

A leave of absence is a request to temporarily pause the Massage Therapy Program due to an extreme situation, with the intention of re-entering and completing the program. A student who applies for a leave of absence must provide a written request to the Program Director for approval of leave. The request must include the effective date, reason, and expected return date.

Massage Therapy Program D (9 months)

- The minimum time allowed for a leave of absence is 3 calendar days.
- The maximum time allowed for a leave of absence is 18 months.

Massage Therapy Program C (3 years)

- The minimum time allowed for a leave of absence is 3 calendar days.
- Because Program C allows up to 3 years to complete all courses, the maximum time allowed for a leave of absence is 8 calendar weeks beyond the 3 year maximum time limit, only if the 3 year maximum time limit will be exceeded by the leave of absence.

The following details apply:

- A student must be in good academic standing in order to be approved for a leave of absence.
- Acceptable causes are death in the family, medical reasons, or a catastrophic event.
- An approved Leave of Absence will, in effect, pause and hold the student's current enrollment and grade status.

- Depending on the length of the leave of absence, a student may stay enrolled in the current classes registered for, or will be automatically placed within the next class(es) at no additional charge.
- Students on leave of absence can resume their studies during the next class session. (example: 150 hours have been completed, resume the class with the next class session at their 151 hour time.)
- If a leave of absence is 3 weeks or less in duration and the student will be re-entering the same class, the student is responsible for making up allowable hours and turning in completed homework assignments per the syllabus within a reasonable amount of time after returning.
- If a leave of absence is 4 weeks or more in duration a student is expected to resume their studies during the next class session.
- If a leave of absence happens during the Swedish Massage class, upon return the student is required to meet with the instructor and schedule one or more skill refresher sessions outside of class time. The amount of skill refresher sessions required is determined on an individual bases, and requires the proficiency level to be equivalent to the place the class is at.
- If a student does not return at the end of the designated end date of the leave of absence, it is assumed that they have withdrawn from the program. The published refund policy will apply.
- As a Leave of Absence is not a formal withdrawal from the program, tuition and other refunds are not given during a Leave of Absence. A student that does formally withdraw from the program will be given a refund in accordance with the Refund Policy and Student's Right to Cancel.

Prior Training

Students that have previous training in Massage Therapy with less than enough hours to become licensed in Alaska may apply to AK Institute in order to bring their required hours of approved education up to standard and thereby become licensed to practice in this state. This additional education is not eligible for Alaska State Student Loans.

Due to our high standards in education and training, certification from AK Institute will add to a student's prestige and respect in the field of Massage Therapy. We feel that if a student can show proof in the form of transcripts and program curriculum of a minimum of 300 hours of training from another approved Massage Therapy program, that this is a good benchmark number of hours to show a solid foundation.

The student may take a portion of our program in order to reach the 625 hour minimum required to apply for a Massage Therapist License, or may opt to apply acceptable hours towards completing the entire 750 hour program and receive a graduation certificate from our school.

Enrollment approval for additional hours will be made by the Program Director and is based on the class size and other admission requirements to AK Institute. If approved, tuition will be adjusted accordingly. In this case, AK Institute will assume approved and verified hours as our own. Upon completion of the needed hours, the student will receive a transcript of hours. If eligible for completing a total of 750 hours, the student will also receive a Certificate of Completion from AK Institute.

We feel that students having less than 300 hours of previous approved education do not have enough of a foundation to meet the standards in education and training at AK Institute.

Therefore, students that have less than 300 hours of previous approved education, or any amount of non-approved education, must apply for the entire 750 hour program in order to become certified by our school.

Tuina Medical Acupressure Certification Course

Welcome Letter from Tuina Medical Acupressure Course Instructor

I admire things that bring out the inner strength I believe is in all of us, and empower us as human beings, massage therapists, and healers. As a long time practitioner and instructor of Tai Chi, QiGong, and Kung Fu, I experience Tuina as the other side of the coin – meaning that martial arts are used for self-defense and can hurt someone, but the same type of movements can be used with a completely different intent to help someone heal.

In this program I place an emphasis on Mind-Body connections by warming up with QiGong, Yoga, and Tai Chi. Tuina practitioners must learn to have a strong Mind-Body connection in order to properly perform the specialized energetic hand techniques. The Tuina hand techniques can be done by almost anyone, but without the internal energy flow they are not effective.

Done properly, the Tuina therapist channels energy through their body and through their Dan Tian into acupuncture points and meridians, creating a unique vibratory wave of Qi flow that initiates the appropriate movement of Qi and Blood required for the body to heal.

Our 750 Hour Massage Therapy program provides the perfect foundation in Oriental medicine to gain the most benefit from this course. Not only do you already have close to 1 year of QiGong practice, the Acupressure and Five-Element Theory gives depth and understanding to all of the Tuina protocols.

Tuina is different from general relaxation massage in that it focuses mainly on injury rehabilitation and musculoskeletal pain. Pressure ranges from light and energetic to deeply intense. Sessions range from a 30-minute spot treatment to a 90-minute full body treatment, and are done fully clothed with no oil. The client often moves between a chair and massage table, so room to accommodate both is helpful. Some of the things we see often in clinic are:

- Acute and chronic injuries
- Musculoskeletal pain
- Post-surgery recovery
- Preventative therapy to help avoid surgery when someone wishes to explore this route

I coordinate our China Study Tours and take groups of students to China in order to study Tuina, QiGong, and Tai Chi with some of the best Chinese doctors and masters in the world.

My vision is to create a Tuina Clinic wing as part of the Oriental Healing Arts Center, comparable to how it is offered in China, with 3-4 treatment rooms and several therapists working on a walk-in basis. My long term goal is to grow this course into a Masters level program similar to acupuncture but without the needling portion.

If you are interested in learning Tuina Medical Acupressure Therapy, talk to me about trying a session. We offer a variety of settings right now that are open to the general public, and our Tai Chi classes are an excellent course of study before the next Certification Course begins.

Always Grow Stronger,
Seraphim Stapleton, LMT, MQT, SM
Instructor and Certified Tuina Practitioner

The 258 Hour Tuina Practitioner Certification Course provides a strong foundation in traditional Tuina therapy, including Oriental medicine theory and techniques specifically for licensed massage therapists and other professional health care providers. Thai Massage Certification Course

Welcome Letter From Thai Massage Course Director

There is a morning inside you waiting to burst open into Light. ~Rumi

After traveling to Thailand in 1999, and exploring the Thai massage and healing traditions all over Thailand, from the schools in the big cities to small village towns, I was inspired to incorporate this ancient art into my everyday life.

I was amazed at the wonderful effects Thai massage had on my body, but more importantly over the course of my studies with my teacher, Tao Shih Pei Wo Lun, I learned that true healing was also rooted in mental, emotional, and spiritual happiness.

Buddhist monks traditionally performed Thai Massage in temples to refresh the body, mind, and spirit and called it “the physical application of Loving-Kindness”

One of the things I love most about Thai Massage is the incorporation of the concepts of Yoga into the practice. It is a great physical practice for the therapist and client. It also embodies the principals of loving-kindness (Metta) and compassion which deepens the healing potential.

In the ancient healing arts, these practices were shared among family and friends to keep the community vibrant, healthy, and happy.

One of the most wonderful things about our program is our instructors. We all love what we do, it is not just a job, but our life’s vocation. We work to embody the healing principals in our professional and personal lives. We love teaching and sharing the healing arts, whether it be for personal use or as a wonderful career.

Even though the practice of Thai Massage is thousands of years old, it is now gaining popularity in the United States. Many people are realizing its healing effects on the body, mind, and spirit.

Thai Massage is one of the fastest growing healing modalities in the West.

Our Thai Massage program is unique to anywhere else in the country. You will learn Thai Massage, Eastern healing principles, and strong body-alignment practices to ensure health and longevity in your practice. I invite you to embark on a path of self-discovery, healing, and growth with us, to use for your own purposes and to assist us in sharing these healing arts into the modern world.

About Thai Massage

Thai Massage Overview and Professional Practice Benefits

The practice of Thai Massage dates back over 2500 years and is the combination of Indian Ayurvedic medicine, Yogic stretching, Chinese acupressure, Reflexology, and the Buddhist concepts of loving-kindness (Metta) and compassion.

Thai massage utilizes passive stretching with rhythmic massage along the body's energy lines to increase flexibility, relieve muscle and joint tension, and enhance the body's energy. The stretching not only improves the tone of the muscles, but it also stimulates the release of endorphins which promotes mood elevation and mental relaxation. The movements also massage the internal organs which helps to stimulate and improve the function of the body's major organ systems.

In a Thai massage session, the body is placed in passive stretching positions while a rhythmic compressive massage is applied to the muscles. It is practiced on the floor on a padded mat with the recipient clothed. No oil is used in Thai Massage. The recipient is either sitting, or lying on their back, stomach, or side. The therapist uses their hands, elbows, thumbs, knees, legs, and feet to knead and loosen the muscles. A traditional Thai Massage is two hours long, however, specific issues can be addressed in a one hour session.

Thai Massage is an excellent therapy for people who want to increase their flexibility and overall health or for athletes wanting to enhance their performance. It also is a very effective modality for increasing circulation, creating inner peace, relieving muscles tension and pain, improving range of motion, stimulating endorphins, purging toxins, and much more. Ancient Monks traditionally performed Thai Massage in the temples to refresh the body, mind, and spirit, and called it the physical application of loving-kindness.

Thai Massage has had a surge in popularity and growth in the massage industry. The International Spa Association identified Thai Massage as one of the "key trends" in the spa industry and one of the fastest growing modalities requested by customers.

One of the greatest advantages of a career in Thai massage is its relationship to Yoga. Yoga has experienced decades of continuous growth, and reports have shown it to be a 7 billion dollar/year industry in the U.S..

Thai Massage is based on the principals of yoga, and more people are seeking out Thai Massage due to the fact that the client receives the benefits of yoga while getting a massage. More Yoga studios are offering Thai massage to their clientele and more Yoga instructors are pursuing massage therapy training and incorporating Thai massage into their teaching practice.

Another appeal of Thai Massage is that the foundation of the practice involves stretching and range of motion of the joints. This makes it very popular and effective with a wide range of people from athletes to people with tension wanting more muscle flexibility and joint mobility.

The enhancement of a Thai massage certification gives therapists an edge on getting a job in the field of massage therapy. Fitness studios, Spa owners, and Medical clinics are increasingly looking for therapists that can give their business a competitive edge, specialty techniques, and diversified offerings. Businesses and therapist are also able to charge more per hour for a Thai massage than relaxation massage.

Massage therapists who have had Thai massage training have experienced a flourishing in their practice. The Thai therapists receive more clients due to the diversity and effectiveness the Thai massage contributes to their practice. Many of their clients that were once being seen for general relaxation massage have converted to Thai massage after receiving one session. Thai Massage therapists find that Thai massage clients are willing to pay more money for a Thai session, book longer sessions, and book more consistently than clients in general relaxation massage.

For courses with 80 hours or less, for a period of time after instruction has begun but before the second day of class or the equivalent, Alaska Institute (hereafter AK INSTITUTE) shall refund 100 percent of the tuition paid. On or after the second day of class no refund is given.

AK INSTITUTE will acknowledge the student's cancellation or withdrawal, in writing, within five (5) business days after receipt of notification.

Refunds to the student will be made within thirty (30) days after receipt of notification of the student's withdrawal, or 30 days after the student's last recorded date of physical attendance, whichever is earlier.

For courses with more than 80 hours, our standard Refund Policy in the vocational education policies section applies.

Refunding grants or scholarships:

For students that have paid tuition with funds from a grant or scholarship, any refund due will first be sent to the grant or scholarship funding company on behalf of the student with any additional remaining balance refunded to the student. The student assumes full responsibility for repayment of any loan or grant obligations that are not covered by a tuition refund.
